Past Month:

- Solidified my campaign schedule, including dates, location and information on the execution
- Reached out to various students groups and service centres to get involved with the campaigns
  - Notable Mention: Cam’s Kids Foundation, RISE Centre, Hatch and many more
- Made a TikTok with Morgan. It focused on Empower Me
- Finished my budget for the upcoming fiscal year
- Attended the CFS Skills Symposium Workshop 1 - Anti-Oppression training
- Attended the CFS Ontario General Meeting
  - A majority of what was discussed was supporting marginalised groups, specifically black and indigenous communities in their student experience. A possible new petition was discussed by the Black Student Alliance at Guelph University which entails having the university be accountable to the advisory groups and committee’s they strike to alleviate and attend to the concerns of BIPOC students
- Met with Equity to discuss further planning of #I BelieveYouDay, #JustGotWeird, Inclusion week and BeforeplayAsk
- Met with the Carleton University Art Gallery to hash out details regarding the virtual art exhibition for September
- Met with a lot of councillors, alongside the team to do our check-ins on any questions, concerns, and insights that they may have. The councillor meet-ups are not limited to do this, so if there are any concerns, please contact us!
- Attended a panel organized by CASG on COVID related information.
  - This involved getting students up to date on how the upcoming school year will look like.
  - Also addressed any concerns that students had
- Had a meeting with various students groups and individuals mostly about their overall concerns and initiatives they want to start to resolve them
- Joined the CUx Committee alongside Osman to create more inclusive programming for a variety of students
- Met with GSA alongside Kathleen
- Had the Student Care Executive Orientation
- SEO & CUSA & ISSO - intro & shared priorities
Ongoing Projects:
- Continuing to work on campaigns
  - The first semester has been going smoothly in terms of responses from external parties
- Following up with the university on some of the events that we have planned to take a hybrid shape
  - This will also include discussion on how the pop-up clinics will look like
- Working on academic accommodations and how we can meet in the middle with the university, especially because of our current global climate

Month Ahead:
- Empower Me series with Morgan
- Following up and finalizing with student groups and service centres on their events for the school in collaboration with the campaigns
- Advocating for more financial incentives for students
  - There is a specific focus here on international students
- Continuing to work with different sections of the university to create a safe(r) and more inclusive space for marginalized students

6. RRRA Report

Jenna Smith (VP programming) - Had the election and are transitioning into their new positions and were super excited for the upcoming year. We are currently focused on getting ready for fall orientation, and have a few virtual events planned for FROSH. So we have speed mingling, a dance class, a drag show and are super excited to have an event with CUSA called ‘executive feud’ so we’re also opening up our store next month hopefully, and our office is currently under renovation.

7. GSA Report
None.

8. CASG Report
Matthew Gangné - So CASG had a pretty great month and held the COVID-19 crash course. There were some tech issues but overall it went really well, thanks to Tinu for showing up and giving her CUSA update and Jaden for showing up for RRRA. By the end of the first week we had it up on facebook we had nearly 1000 views, so I’m glad so many students were able to get answers that they needed. With the month ahead I had a conversation with Cathy from the University senate talking about bringing forward a motion on satisfactory grading for the fall semester. I will be drafting a motion that will be presented in the next couple of weeks for the tentative senate meeting in August, if not it will be delayed to September. But worry not the motion will be up on the senate in the next couple months. Other than that, near the end of August we will have a contest for campus bookstore gift cards to try and help some students out while they’re getting ready for the school year and cover some textbook costs.

9. Senate Report

10. Board of Governors Report
Nathaniel Black -

Good Evening Colleagues,

It is worth noting the extraordinary times we are living through as a generation whereby our peers across the continent are rising against the hatred and intolerance seen by too many organizations and individuals in all sectors of life. Indeed, we are also living through troubling times of economic hardship and social distancing wherein our peers are feeling isolated and vulnerable. Therefore, our responsibility as student leaders is highlighted and overwhelmed as I had stated in my July 28th address to students. Our role as leaders expands beyond this zoom room and into the halls of power & influence where we must represent students as a united front.

Our heavy burdens during this time as student leaders must be set aside for the greater good of the everyday student. Indeed, my perception of the world is shaped by my upbringing on the south side of Ottawa where I know many of my peers are working single mothers attending Carleton part-time, or first-generation Canadians making their families proud during a time of crisis. Those lived experiences drive my passion for student leadership and uphold our collective responsibility to act in the best interests of all students.

Over the course of the past four weeks as your Undergraduate Governor, I have striven to meet the expectations of students and uphold the change promised to them during the election. I ran on a platform of a systemic change in the approach taken by the University toward low-income, marginalized and isolated students to be the voice for their best interests on the Board of Governors. Therefore, in this short time I have dispatched several motions for the consideration for the board. In addition, I have negotiated several joint-advocacy agreements with my counterparts across Canada to pursue an inter-governmental approach in addressing the needs of students.

Overall, I urge each of you to look beyond your personal political interests and the dubious activities of CUSA executives so that we may embrace the causes taking hold among our generation. We must seek to be the agents of change on campus and in our communities by governing student institutions in a way that acknowledges the systemic realities facing thousands of marginalized students. If not for your own political interests, then do it for the interests of all future students of Carleton University as we progress into a century of endless possibilities.

Nathaniel S. Black, Undergraduate Governor of Carleton University
My Approach to Reopening

Over the past several months I have heard from a vast cross-section of students advocating for both sides of the re-opening debate. However, as the national/regional statistics continue to fluctuate I am unable to predict the state of affairs for Winter. As a result, the vote I will cast as to the re-opening of campus will be based on the COVID-19 statistics and advice from local health officials as to the risk to students.

Indeed, I have thoroughly reviewed the report by the Carleton Strategic Planning Group pertaining to the stages for reopening and the descriptions associated with the availability of services under each phase. I believe the optimistic approach would hope for phase 3 of the report which continues limited face-to-face access to campus and retaining the online learning system throughout the 2020-21 academic year.

At the moment my stance on the matter is that the personal safety of students should continue to be the top priority for the University. Thus, the online-service delivery model should be maintained as long as there is a plausible threat from COVID-19. I believe this is a reasonable approach that balances the learning/service delivery and the well-being of all students & staff.

Lower tuition and fees for Winter 2021?

I largely agree with students such as Jasmine Dooby, whom I have been holding robust discussions with on the matter of decreasing tuition in the event that campus does not reopen in winter at a full-service capacity. Of course, this is an on-going discussion as to the measurement of affordability compared to the operational requirements of the University budget.

As per a discussion I had with the Chair and Vice-Chair, I expressed my willingness to propose legislation to the Board of Governors on a revised fee schedule for the Winter term in the event of continued e-learning. I will also be tabling legislation to refer the matter of the use of auxiliary funds to compensate for a potential decrease in tuition. That process would result in a report to the Board of Governors by December regarding the fiscal feasibility of decreased tuition and fees.

I continue to prioritize the affordability of the Carleton student experience above all else. I will continue to push the Board of Governors toward a reduced fee operating capacity by emphasizing the use of the auxiliary funds toward this purpose. I understand that many students are experiencing financial hardship and do not wish to incur additional debt only for an online learning experience.

Results of UG’s Reservist-Student Roundtable

On Thursday, July 23rd, 2020 I hosted a digital roundtable with several reservist- students who are members of the Canadian Armed Forces serving their country through this difficult time. I commend their service and wish to represent their best interests to the Board of Governors during this difficult time wherein their service to the community is greatly appreciated.

As has been communicated to me that over the past several months’ members of Carleton’s reservist-student community have been called up to provide support in Ontario’s senior care facilities to tackle the surge of cases among the elderly. During this time many reservist-students had been strained to register for their courses and find out more information on how to access the Paul Menton Centre for additional academic support.
During these difficult times, I believe it is incumbent upon CUSA/Senate and BoG student representatives to ensure services continue to be available to the reservist-student community despite their deployment during COVID-19. Therefore, I have prepared a brief action plan as to how the University may adapt to the needs of reservist-students in several steps listed below.

✔ Student Senators should refer a motion to the Senate committee on Curriculum, Admission, and Studies Policy regarding the accreditation of reservist-deployment under eligible program criterion.

✔ Student BoG Representatives should refer a motion to the BoG committee on Advancement & University Relations on the topic of liaising with the reservist-student community to ensure the continued accessibility to necessary services. ✔ Student Senators should refer a motion to the Senate committee on Education Equity regarding the retention and accommodation of Reservist-Students during a time of crisis. Such as revised access to registration and increased access to the Paul Menton Centre.

✔ Student Senators should refer a motion to the Senate committee on Metals & Prizes regarding the acknowledgement of the incredible contribution of Carleton’s Reservist-Student community toward fighting COVID-19 in long-term care homes across Ontario.

As seen above there are many actions to be taken to ensure the long-term success of reservist-students and I look forward to doing my best to pursue the continued acknowledgement of the reservist-student community.

Electoral Reform & Review

On Wednesday, July 15th, 2020 the first meeting of my special committee on electoral reform and review met to discuss the recent allegations of electoral misconduct by members of the University community. The purpose of this committee is to advise and consent to actions I will take as Undergraduate Governor to advocate for the restoration of integrity to our campus democracy. The point of having a committee is to assemble a group of individuals with experience in numerous campus organizations such as CUSA, CASG, and RRRA to help determine what advice I would provide to the Board of Governors at the September meeting.

I strongly believe that there is evidence to suggest a sophisticated and longstanding taint in the electoral system of many organizations headquartered on campus. As Undergraduate Governor, part of my role is to advise the Board of Governors on actions it may take with regard to the protection of the integrity and corporate culture of the University. As a result, I do not believe that the University should continue to maintain the status quo relationships either financially or as a matter of corporate culture with CUSA. As a few current executives have shown an utter disregard for the good faith understanding of their ethical responsibility to students.

To my understanding, there is a long history of corruption at the highest levels of the organization that is not limited to a few individuals. The ongoing matter of corruption is representative of the corporate culture of insider dealing and a general sense of beholden leadership to outside groups such as exclusive members-only elite multi-national fraternity and sorority organizations.
In my opinion, the deplorable culture of clear violations of the standard good faith adherence to corporate responsibility indicates the need for clear reform of the organization. However, as Undergraduate Governor, my first and only responsibility is to protect the reputation and students of Carleton University. In accordance with that mandate, I will recommend several changes to the current bilateral relationship. Actions not limited to halting the collection of fees via the University, limiting lease agreements, and several other actions commensurate with the severe lack of corporate responsibility of the Carleton University Student Association (CUSA).

Anti-Racism Task Force Motion

On Thursday, July 9th, 2020 I dispatched a copy of the Anti-Racism Taskforce Motion that I have prepared along with my graduate student counterparts regarding the systemic reform of Carleton University’s approach to eliminating racism both internally and externally. In the same dispatch, I released a letter to the Chair requesting an emergency meeting of the Board of Governors to discuss and pass my resolution toward the committee stage. However, my request for a special session was denied, which I accepted due to the restrictions around COVID19.

As it stands my motion for an anti-racism task force will be considered by the full Board of Governors at the September meeting as an agenda item. In my opinion, this would be a great step forward for the future of all marginalized students at Carleton University as my comprehensive motion lays out a thorough plan to get to the root causes of systemic racism in the higher education system. I believe that if passed by the Board in September, this legislation will fundamentally change the paradigm of the University policy toward marginalized students.

Some key takeaways from my motion are:

- ✓ The collection of race-based data including incidents of perceived racism, economic factors, and aggregate recommendations.
- ✓ The formulation of a targeted scholastic endeavor to curate specific academic, mentorship and bursary options for marginalized groups on campus.
- ✓ The adoption of proven models for local inclusion such as academic summer programs for marginalized youth, student pipelines with local high schools, and community outreach to low income & marginalized communities.

The conceptual background of my motion for the creation of the anti-racism task force stems from the recent work of the Indigenous Planning Group that led to 42 excellent recommendations contained in a well-founded report. As an ally to the indigenous community, I will fully support the implementation of all 42 recommendations into the policy and functions of Carleton University. Likewise, I am hoping the support for the work of the indigenous Planning Group will facilitate the work on a generalized anti-racism taskforce to inquire more substantively into the barriers facing all racialized students at Carleton University.

I am committed to passing this motion through the Board of Governors in September and look forward to the positive feedback of students.
